

Ludgershall Businesses Support Their Local Fire Service

Last Updated Wednesday, 12 December 2007

Two Ludgershall businesses, The Queen's Head and Tesco Express, have shown their support for their local fire station by raising money for partnership initiatives that will directly benefit both the fire service and the local community. More than £2,200 was raised and handed over at a presentation on December 5 at Ludgershall fire station, following a calendar of colourful fund-raising events that were held throughout the summer and autumn.
